Dear Parents and Carers

I wish to introduce myself to you. I am the new Head Teacher of Lochaber High School, and I think it is important to write to you early in my new post.

Firstly, I would like to recognise the dedication and hard work of the previous Head Teacher, Mr Jim Sutherland, staff, children and you who have made the school what it is today. With your support, I wish to further this good work.

On my return from the February break last week I spent much of my time speaking with staff across the building and addressing all our year groups. This is the beginning of the process of building sound professional relationships across our school community, which is vital in the work we do.

I am looking forward to meeting you and working with you so that together, with all our staff and agencies, we provide the best support for all our young people to help them develop the knowledge, skills and qualities to thrive at school and the world beyond.

As you can imagine it is a very busy time at Lochaber High School preparing our senior phase students for examinations, organising our subject choices on top of all the regular day to day work that goes on; however I am sure you will hear a lot more in the fullness of time.

I will be arranging surgery hours into my working schedule in the near future, which will provide us with an opportunity to have informal discussion about your child's learning, but in the meantime if you wish to speak with me, please do not hesitate to contact the school to arrange an appointment.

I wish to thank you in anticipation of your support.

Yours sincerely

Scott Steele
Head Teacher
